SPADAFORA'S

Restaurant and Clam Bar

"Catch the Flavor of the Shore"

Welcome to Spadafora's

Don't let our logo fool you, we are not located on the water, we are in the parking lot behind the Ocean City boardwalk. But don't let our location deceive you either, our seafood is dockside fresh! Since our beginning in 1981, our goal has been to bring you the local flavor of the Jersey Shore.

As a kid working on the boardwalk, I was tired of pizza and burgers and just wanted to have a good bowl of chowder and clams (a beer would have been nice too, but this is Ocean City). Lacking a casual clam bar at the time, I thought opening a clam shack might be a good idea. We obtained the lease on this building from the late Helen Shriver Schilling, who told me to paint it white, keep it maintained and clean and serve good food and she would rent it to us instead of tearing it down (I took her advice). The building has been around since the early 1900's. It has been a family restaurant for years from Aunt Mary's kitchen to the Hen House and some in between.

Many of the recipes were developed by grandpop Schiavo who worked for the landmark dinner club "Palumbo's" in South Philly for over 50 years. Our menu is basically fresh seafood in traditional recipes, always moist, not overcooked or covered up with overwhelming sauces. In the early years, we added such items as fresh grilled steaks in response to our customers' requests. We actually had people bring their own steaks in for us to cook so they could have a surf and turf. Some other favorites, such as our homemade Key Lime and Mud pies, we brought back from the Florida Keys (before Jimmy Buffett caused the Margaritaville epidemic).

In our tenth season, we expanded our fresh seafood concept to include a take-out fish market. On Ninth and Haven Avenue we renovated a building (again an old building not on the water). We now supply Spadafora's Restaurant & Clam Bar from our fish market, aptly named Spadafora's Seafood (much to the confusion of our customers).

Over thirty-nine years later, we are still going strong. We remain dedicated to providing our customers with the freshest seafood and friendliest service around. Thank you to our loyal customers and staff for making Spadafora's an Ocean City Tradition.
